

Kind

by Jess McGeachin

From one of Australia's most talented new creators comes this beautiful ode to the wonders of our natural world. From the tiniest beetle to the most majestic whale, every creature on Earth is a marvel, deserving of awe and compassion. This beautiful picture book is a unique celebration of living things of many kinds - and the kindness we can show them as we wander through the world. It's a gentle, rhyming introduction to the diversity of the animal kingdom, resonant with messages of care and stewardship for our fellow inhabitants of this planet.

Author Bio

Jess McGeachin worked in graphic design before becoming a children's author and illustrator; he loves telling stories about hidden places.

Hello, Trees!

by Bailey Bezuidenhout, illustrated by Maria Lebedeva

In this lyrical, poetic story about trees (and more), a little girl wanders through a forest and asks questions of the trees. She runs her hands along their trunks: the lines in the bark are so different from her own skin, yet somewhat familiar. What must it feel like, when they lose their leaves? Like trees, we are a culmination of our memories, and of our future.

Author Bio

South Africa-based Bailey Bezuidenhout became inspired to write a children's book after studying in New York for four years; she published Hello, Trees! after returning to South Africa. Maria Lebedeva is an author, illustrator, and PhD candidate working in South Africa.

Draw an Amazing Story

by George Grancharov

These extremely entertaining (and educational!) cards were designed for children who love to create. The rules are easy to follow, and there are endless ways to play. All three Cartoon decks use an entertaining method to teach children (and adults!) how to draw over 10,000 different combinations of cartoon characters, robots, and monsters, while Draw An Amazing Story teaches easy techniques for drawing different cartoon scenarios for storytelling. Players divide the decks into piles (the card decks can be combined and used with each other), turn cards over, swap cards, and start creating!

Author Bio

Wild Things
A Biography
by Sally Rippin

We love wayward children in literature. Not so much in life. When Sally Rippin discovered her child was struggling to read, the best-selling children's author assumed it would sort itself out over time. She couldn't have been more wrong. Her son's dyslexia and ADHD went unsupported for years, leaving him further and further behind his peers, and labeled as "difficult" by an education system that couldn't easily cater to neurodivergent kids. By the time Sally learned how to advocate for her child, it was – almost – too late. This extraordinary book for parents is about how we learn to read and what can happen if we don't, through the eyes of a parent who started out by doing everything the wrong way. Through meticulous research, interviews with educational experts and conversations with neurodivergent adults, Rippin shares her brilliant and eye-opening insights into how we can help all kids find the joy in reading, and advocate for them within our schooling system. After all, they say school isn't for everyone, but if everyone must go to school – then why not?

Author Bio

Sally Rippin is one of Australia's best-selling and most-beloved children's authors. She has written over 50 books for children and young adults, and her mantle holds numerous awards for her writing. Best known for her Billie B. Brown, Hey Jack! and Polly and Buster series, Sally loves to write stories with heart, as well as characters that resonate with children, parents, and teachers alike.
